Purpose

This plan is the first half of the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe's overall Economic Development Plan. The purpose of this plan is to create long term profit-making opportunities, to create optimum employment opportunities, and to establish a high quality recreation area at Pyramid Lake for the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe and its Members. The plan is broken down into 7 key elements that are focused on accomplishing the purpose of the plan. The 7 elements are; Recreation & Fishing, Tribal Enterprises, Good Governance & Education, Industrial & Commercial Development, Agriculture & Ranching, and Tribal Entrepreneurship. Each element of the plan consists of generalized goals and policies that the Tribal Government can follow to create jobs and growth on the reservation. This plan does not contain any policy matters concerning the uses of the Pyramid Lake Economic Development Fund from PL-101-618. The second half of the Tribe's overall Economic Development Plan will be drafted after the adoption of this strategic plan.

In November 1990 Congress passed Public Law 101-618, the Truckee-Carson-Pyramid Lake Water Settlement Act. Since then, the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe has worked on an economic development plan which will best promote tribal prosperity. Over the years Tribal staff and consultants have undertaken business analyses, community surveys, and community meetings to assist in the development of this plan.

Section 208(3)a of PL-101-618 requires that the Tribe adopt an Economic Development Plan that identifies and outlines long-term profit making opportunities for the Tribe and optimal employment opportunities for Tribal Members and establishes a high quality recreational area at Pyramid Lake. The strategic plan will accomplish this requirement of the law and identify ways to create jobs and growth on the reservation through the generalized goals and policies of the plan. In addition, the Tribal Members share a great interest in the plan, consequently their views have been incorporated as much as possible, including providing input prior to taking action.

This plan has been created through an extensive planning process that started in June of 2009. The strategic plan was drafted months after using information gathered during the public outreach process in 2009, reviewing past Economic Development planning efforts, reviewing past Tribal Member surveys and comments, and other successful Tribal and non-Tribal Economic Development plans around the country. During the planning process 4 public meetings, 2 Tribal Council Workshops, 6 Water Resources Committee Meetings, and two 30 day public postings were completed to seek input from Tribal Members on this plan. In addition to satisfying the requirements of the PL-101-618, this plan is designed to be the official policy document to guide Economic growth and development for the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe and its members. This plan is intended to be used by Tribal Staff and the Tribal Council to guide the Tribe when making decisions and reviewing future economic development projects. Also this plan is intended to help guide the Tribal Council in making policy decisions concerning the uses of the Pyramid Lake Economic Development Fund from PL-101-618. The specific policy decisions concerning both the principal and interest amounts of the Pyramid Lake Economic Development Fund shall be decided individually once the strategic plan is adopted by the Tribe and will encompass Volume #2 of the Tribe's overall Economic Development Plan.

Settlement Background

Over the last century the Tribe has engaged in on-going legal disputes over rights to Truckee River water. Beginning with the construction of Derby Dam in 1905, diversion of Truckee River water has caused major concern for the survival of Pyramid Lake. The lake level dropped eighty-seven feet from 1912 to 1967. Carrying its disputes to the federal courts, the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe negotiated a landmark decision in 1990 when the U.S. Congress passed the Truckee-Carson-Pyramid Lake Water Rights Settlement Act, Public Law 101-618.

Approved by PL-33-11

PL 101-618 is the cornerstone to the future well-being and quality of life of the Tribal membership. Section 208(a)(3) authorized the appropriation of $40 million to the Pyramid Lake Paiute Economic Development Fund. Furthermore, Section 208(a)(3)(A) authorizes the use of the principal and interest of the Fund for tribal economic development in accordance with a plan developed by the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior. The objectives of the plan are to develop long-term, profit-making opportunities creating employment opportunities for the membership and establish high-quality recreation at Pyramid Lake consistent with fishery restoration goals. Once accepted, the economic plan may be revised and updated by the Tribe in consultation with the Secretary.

Tribal Setting

The Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe (Tribe) is a federally recognized Native American Tribe as organized under Section 16 of the Indian Reorganization Act. Operating under a constitution based government the governing body of the Tribe is the elected Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribal Council consisting of a Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and eight (8) Council members. The Constitution and Bylaws of the Tribe were adopted on December 14, 1935 and approved by the U. S. Department of Interior, Office of Indian Affairs, on January 15, 1936. The founding document has thus far been amended eight times to better reflect the ideologies and needs of the members with the last amendment approved in 1976. The Tribe has a long history of administering and operating various social and economic programs for the community with funds received from federal, state, and tribal resources. Similar to most tribes in the United States, the Tribal government operates programs for the public safety and welfare of its members and other residents.

The Pyramid Lake Paiute Reservation is located in Northwestern Nevada, 35 miles northeast of Reno. The reservation lies dominantly within Washoe County, but a small portion of it lies within Lyon and Storey Counties. It is the largest Native American reservation in the state, both in size (475,000 acres) and Tribal population (1,388) according to the 2000 US Census. Pyramid Lake is a large terminal lake whose waters originate at Lake Tahoe and flow northeastern as the Truckee River for 105 miles to its terminus at Pyramid Lake. The lake covers 112,000 acres, approximately 175 square miles, and is 26 miles long and 11 miles wide. It is a remnant of the ancient Lake Lahontan, which existed 9,000 to 40,000 years ago. The modern lake has a maximum depth of 350 feet and a volume of nearly 22 million acre feet. It is one of the most valuable historic, cultural and economic assets of the Tribe. The Pyramid Lake area has a semi-arid climate, with an annual precipitation range of less than 7 inches in the basins to 18 inches in the high mountains. The amount of precipitation is directly related to elevation. Most precipitation falls as snow in the high elevations, providing stream runoff and peak flow during early spring. Summers are typically dry, with very little rainfall between July and August.

Pyramid Lake and its abundant fish supply have been important resources for human inhabitants for over 4,000 years. The Pyramid Lake Paiute culture (Kooyooe Ticutta or Cui-ui Eaters) have lived successfully in this area for over 600 years, utilizing the abundant fish as their primary food supply and an economic resource. During the spawning run, other Paiute bands would join the Kooyooe Ticutta in net fishing at the river delta and participating in the accompanying annual Tribal celebrations. Cui-ui were gathered by the thousands each year and dried up for future use. The Lake, the cui-ui, and the people are the three central components that define the identity of the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe.

The economy today is still centered on Pyramid Lake with fishing, boating, camping and other year round recreational activities making up the bulk of the economy. Pyramid Lake is widely acclaimed as North America's most beautiful desert lake. Its rugged beauty and undeveloped open space appeals to both Tribal members and visitors from around the world. The Lake is a destination for sports fisherman because of its fame as a world class trout fishery and tourist destination. Use of the lake by non-tribal members requires a permit and adherence to Tribal regulations. Fishing season for trout runs from October 1st to June 30th each year. The lake is home to 5 species of fish; the Lahontan Cutthroat Trout; the Lahontan Tui chub; the Cui-ui; the Tahoe Sucker and the Sacramento Perch.

Sutcliffe is the only Tribal community located adjacent to Pyramid Lake and is common gateway for visitors driving in from the Reno/Sparks area. This community includes a marina, store, visitor's center, gas station, small community centers, RV park ranger station and fishery facilities. Non-tribal operations (located on fee land) include a mobile home park, RV park, and a store with general merchandise, fishing equipment, slot machines, food and a bar.

Wadsworth, located at the southernmost portion of the reservation, derives revenue from a smoke shop/convenience store/gas station and RV park situated near an exit to Interstate 80. Due to its proximity to exits #43 and #46 off Interstate 80 the community serves as a southern gateway into the reservation. The community also includes a youth treatment center, an Elementary school, post office, community center, churches, and a day care facility. In addition, the Tribe receives revenue from a gravel pit operation and the Big Bend RV Park. Other revenue is based on taxes from businesses located on non-tribal lands with the reservation.

Nixon, the base of Tribal Government, is located near the south end of Pyramid Lake and is equidistant from the other reservation communities. Available services are Tribal administration, medical clinic, elder services, police department, judicial services, volunteer fire department, Post Office, museum/visitor's center, Pyramid Lake High School, the Nixon Store, Head Start and day care facility. The Tribe has an established tax department to administer and collect taxes on the Reservation. The modest income from tax revenue serves as the primary resource for tribal administration and community development needs as well as supplementing other vital programs in order to operate at minimal levels.

According to the 2000 Census 1,388 Tribal Members lived on the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation. 65.7% of Tribal Members were employed either on or off the reservation while 34.3% of Tribal Members were unemployed. Common employment occupations were; service, management, professional, sales and office, farming, fishing, forestry, construction, maintenance, transportation, agriculture, government and ranching. 5.3% of Tribal Members worked at home and only 3.6% were self employed or owned their own business. The average commute time to work for Tribal Members was 25.5 minutes. The average per-capita income for each Tribal Member is $11,837.
