

On behalf of the American College of Rheumatology (ACR) and the Association of Rheumatology Professionals (ARP), we are pleased to invite you to attend ACR Convergence 2024, which will be held November 14–19 in Washington, D.C.

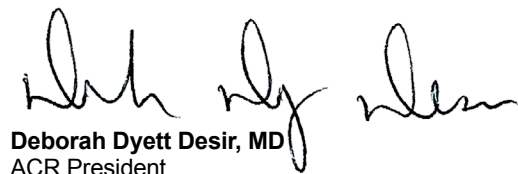

ACR Convergence is the world's premier rheumatology experience, featuring hundreds of sessions to educate professionals in every segment of the field. In addition to providing excellent content and cutting-edge research, ACR Convergence provides opportunities for medical professionals to connect and collaborate.

In the vast world of medicine, rheumatology is a relatively small specialty. Yet, our global collegiality is unsurpassed, and our attendees greatly value the opportunity to meet and network with colleagues. We are excited to learn from you this year, and your participation will help expand the data exchange critical to improving patient care worldwide. Although the ACR will not provide financial support or cover your transportation or local expenses, discounted registration rates are available through August 30, 2024.

Up-to-date information on our meeting plans this year, including details on our scientific program and related travel information, is available on the ACR Convergence 2024 website at rheumatology.org/annual-meeting. If you have questions about the conference, please contact the meeting organizers at education@rheumatology.org or +1-404-633-3777.

Please accept our best wishes and anticipated opportunity to welcome you to Washington, D.C., for this outstanding educational event.

Sincerely,

Deborah Dyett Desir, MD
ACR President

Aileen Ledingham, PT, MS, PhD
ARP President

NOVEMBER 14-19 • WASHINGTON, DC

ACR
Convergence
Where Rheumatology Meets
#ACR24

