

2015 Publications from the AZA Community

Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA)-accredited zoos and aquariums and certified related facilities undertake projects that result in the publication of peer-reviewed papers, technical reports, book chapters, and graduate theses or dissertations.

In 2015, publications focused on:

- Animal Health and Welfare
- Conservation
- Education and Professional Development

This document provides the citations for each of these publications and is based on the field conservation and mission-related research projects submitted to AZA by members.

Read AZA's Annual Reports on Conservation and Science (www.aza.org/annual-report-on-conservation-and-science/) to learn more about what individual members are doing in the areas of field conservation and mission-related research, as well as in education and green business practices or download Highlights to learn about what the AZA community accomplished as a whole. Explore each project by logging into AZA's website (www.aza.org) and selecting the Conservation and Research, Education Programs, or Green Practices links from the "My AZA" menu.
