

biographical information

Daniel Droog
Director, Origination – New Energies
Chevron New Energies

Previously, Daniel was vice president, Energy Transition and prior to that senior managing counsel for Strategy, Policy and Ventures.

He joined Chevron in 2013 and has over two decades of experience on complex energy issues. Prior to joining Chevron, Daniel practiced law in Washington, D.C., California, and Houston, Texas primarily focused on domestic and international energy matters. He is registered or licensed in multiple jurisdictions with advanced certification in international matters.

After graduating summa cum laude from Pepperdine School of Law, Daniel clerked in the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Daniel is an active member of the Houston community having served on several nonprofit boards focused on education, innovation, economic development and enabling those with special needs. He currently serves on the Board at the Center for Houston's Future as part of the Greater Houston Partnership.