The European Journal of Histochemistry was founded in 1954 by Maffo Vialli and published till 1979 under the title of "Rivista di Istochimica Normale e Patologica", from 1980 to 1990 as "Basic and Applied Histochemistry" and in 1991 as "European Journal of Basic and Applied Histochemistry". It is now published under the auspices of the University of Pavia, Italy. Even more than in the past, the European Journal of Histochemistry, as a journal of functional cytology, represents the venue where cell scientists may present and discuss their original results, technical improvements and theories.

NOW welcoming submission

The journal welcomes papers concerning investigations by histochemical and immunohistochemical methods, and performed with the aid of light, super-resolution and electron microscopy, cytometry and imaging techniques. Coverage extends to:

- functional cell and tissue biology in animals and plants;
- cell differentiation and death;
- cell-cell interaction and molecular trafficking;
- biology of cell development and senescence;
- nerve and muscle cell biology;
- cellular basis of diseases.
