

INNOVATION ASPECTS OF INTEGRATION MOVE TOWARDS THE EU

Valerij Novytskyi

Abstract. Numerous aspects of economic cooperation with the European Union is an important issues for acceleration of any country's economic development. In fact, it is possible to state that there are really new R&D precondition of international cooperation that emerged as research and research-applied spheres are not only the premise of high technology products exchange but present new possibilities for international combination of production efforts in the processes of economic renovation.

Keywords: innovation policy, scientific and technological factors of development, European integration.