SAFE DRINKING WATER ACT ANNUAL REPORT FOR FISCAL YEAR 2008

Revised March 2009

www.scdhec.net/water

Introduction

Purpose and Scope

The South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control (DHEC) manages the Public Water System Supervision Program in South Carolina. The primary enforcement authority for the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) is called primacy. Primacy has been delegated to DHEC's Bureau of Water by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Within DHEC, two bureaus share the implementation of the program; the Bureau of Water and the Bureau of Environmental Services. Funding for this program comes from State appropriations, a Federal grant and the Drinking Water Trust Fund (fees).

The scope of this report will address those programs supported by the Drinking Water Trust Fund. This report is a requirement of Regulation 61-30 (G)(2), Environmental Protection Fees.

Public Water Systems in South Carolina

The State Primary Drinking Water Regulations, R.61-58, establish requirements for all public water systems to ensure safe drinking water throughout the State. These requirements can differ depending on the type of system. South Carolina categorizes its water systems as follows:

Community Water Systems: a public water system which serves at least 15 service connections used by year-round residents or regularly serves at least 25 year-round residents. This may include, but not be limited to, subdivisions, municipalities, mobile home parks, apartments, etc.

Non-Transient Non-Community Water System: a public water system that is not a community water system and that regularly serves at least 25 of the same persons over 6 months per year (i.e., schools, and day care centers).

Transient Non-Community Water System: a non-community water system that does not regularly serve at least 25 of the same persons over six (6) months per year.

State Water System: any water system that serves less than 15 service connections or regularly serves an average of less than 25 individuals daily.

Drinking water is provided to the citizens and visitors of South Carolina from either one of approximately 345 systems that receive their water from surface water sources or 2420 systems that receive their water from groundwater sources. Approximately 80% of the population in South Carolina receive their water from a public water system. The remaining 20% of the population of South Carolina is served by private individual wells.

SAFE DRINKING WATER ANNUAL FEE PROGRAM

Fiscal Year (FY) 2008 (from July 1, 2007 to June 30, 2008) was the fifteenth year of the SDWA Annual Fee Program and the fourteenth year of the three (3) component (i.e., administrative; distribution monitoring; source water monitoring) fee structure [R.61-30.G (2), Environmental Protection Fees, DHEC: Safe Drinking Water Act].

On July 20, 2007, invoices for FY 2008 were mailed to all State and Federally defined public water systems in South Carolina. A breakdown of the projected income by system type is as follows [Attachment 2- FY 2008 Invoices by System Type]:

SYSTEM TYPE	# INVOICES	$ INVOICED
Community	611	$ 3,706,584.00
Non-Transient Non-Community	138	85,186.00
Transient Non-Community	699	149,475.00
State	1,134	156,108.00
TOTAL SYSTEMS BILLED & PROJECTED REVENUE:	2,582	$ 4,097,353.00

Telephone calls, after the invoices were mailed, continued to be very minimal. Department staff again attribute this to the mailing of a completed SDWA Fee Calculation Form to all Community and Non-Transient Non-Community public water systems during April 2007, showing them what they could expect to be billed for FY 2008.

No new public water systems added to the inventory were billed at mid-year. This decision was based upon the minimal number of Federally regulated public water systems added after the July billing. However, seasonally operated public water systems are being invoiced when they open for operation.

Environmental Quality Control (EQC) Programs Management continues handling the bulk of the collection duties. These duties include formal 30/60/90 day collection letters and establishment of payment plans for those water systems unable to pay the entire fee at one time.

BUDGET & PERSONNEL

The Drinking Water Trust Fund was created in July 1993, and is dedicated solely for use in implementing the Public Water System Supervision Program. The Drinking Water Trust Fund provides resources to implement the SDWA and is shared by the Bureau of Water, the Bureau of Environmental Services - Regions, and the Bureau of Environmental Services - Laboratories. In addition to providing the resources to conduct the activities under the SDWA necessary for the Department to retain primacy, these funds also allow the Department to assume the responsibility for most of the compliance monitoring required of the water systems.

For Fiscal Year (FY) 2008, the fee structure for the Community and Non-Transient systems remained the same as in FY 2003. The schedule for these systems consists of three parts, one for administrative or regulatory services, one for distribution monitoring, and one for source monitoring. The source monitoring component was not assessed against systems that receive all of their water from another public water system and the distribution component was not applied to systems that pump, treat, and provide bulk water to another system. The transient, small-multi tap, small-single tap, and water vending machine systems were charged a fixed amount, which has remained unchanged since FY 1999. [R.61-30.G(2), Environmental Protection Fees, DHEC: Safe Drinking Water Act]

The Drinking Water Trust Fund directly supports a total of 15 positions. The positions are allocated to the Bureau of Water to conduct engineering evaluations of water systems, conduct sanitary surveys, perform compliance reviews, perform data management functions, and to coordinate the monitoring activities; to the Bureau of Environmental Services - Districts to conduct on-site inspections and evaluations, as well as to collect the samples required under the various monitoring programs; and to the Bureau of Environmental Services - Laboratories to develop and maintain analytical methods necessary to analyze all regulated contaminants (except Asbestos and Dioxin) and to conduct the analyses required under the various monitoring programs.

The extensive use of contract laboratories for most of the unregulated contaminant monitoring, much of the radionuclide monitoring, and most of the disinfection by-product monitoring continues to be a major expenditure for the program. Disinfection by-product monitoring in systems serving less than 10,000 population, begun in January 2003, continued through 2008. Source water monitoring and distribution monitoring for lead and copper continued through 2008. No significant reduction in the present amount of compliance monitoring is anticipated in the next few years. There is also new microbiological monitoring of groundwater sources and radon monitoring on the horizon.

Permitting Programs

The Construction Permitting Section is responsible for the review of all plans and specifications and the issuance of a Permit to Construct for components of water distribution systems (e.g., water lines, elevated storage tanks, booster pump stations). The Section permitted 1,107 projects last year. Permits to Construct come in three forms:

- Permits via Department review
- Permits via delegated review
- General permit (the 1,107 projects stated above do not include these)

Under the General Permit program, utilities can construct certain types of water distribution lines without individual Department permits. Annually, the utility submits a report to the Department detailing the activity that took place under the general permit.

Under the Delegated Review Program, the technical review is performed by the local water utility; however, the Department still issues a Permit to Construct on these projects. The Department's review is therefore limited to certain administrative components. This cuts down on the overall review and approval process.

The Water Supply and Recreational Waters Permitting Section staff are responsible for the review of all plans and specifications and the issuance of a Permit to Construct for wells, surface water and ground water treatment systems, bottled water facilities, and corrosion control installations at both surface water and ground water systems. The Section reviewed and permitted 111 water supply projects last year.

In addition to the permitting process the Water Supply and Recreational Waters Permitting Section has the responsibility of reviewing Preliminary Engineering Reports (PERs) pertaining to water supply projects. These PERs are submitted on large projects, or projects that need "conceptual" approval. This type of approval insures that the engineer does not design and draw plans that are not approvable. The water system can save considerable time and money on the project through the PER approval process.

To better serve the public, the Department has implemented regulations to insure an appropriate review and response time for the permitting process. With the passage of the Environmental Protection Fees Regulation, R. 61-30, effective July 1, 1995, there is a 45-day limit on the "in-house" review time for projects. If additional information is needed from the design engineer, the time that an engineer takes to provide the additional information is not part of the 45-day review time.

All systems are required to obtain and maintain a Public Water System Operating Permit. The Department is responsible for issuing these permits to the systems. The Operating Permit outlines system information and operating requirements. The permits will promote system viability by requiring systems to submit a business plan in the event that they receive an overall "Unsatisfactory" rating on a Sanitary Survey. The Department issued 231 operating permits in the last year.

In an effort to minimize the proliferation of small water systems, applicants for proposed water systems must first evaluate the feasibility of connecting to an existing viable water system. If the Department concurs that it is not feasible to connect to an existing system the applicant must then demonstrate that the new water system will have the technical, managerial, financial capacity to remain viable for the long term. The applicant is required to submit a business plan with its application evaluating the feasibility of connecting to an existing system and demonstrating long-term viability. If the business plan adequately demonstrates long-term viability a construction permit is issued for the new system.

Staff are responsible for the review and approval of corrosion control treatment projects. A system is required to submit a desk-top study to the Department within six (6) months of an exceedance of the action level set by the Lead and Copper Rule. The study must outline a course of action to alleviate the corrosion problem. If the action involves treatment, the Department is responsible for reviewing and approving treatment design, and issuing a Permit to Construct for the design.

Source water assessments continue to be incorporated into the public water system permitting process for new groundwater sources. Look-up tables of estimated Wellhead Protection Area (WHPA) radii at different pumping rates for different areas across the State were developed. The look-up tables can be used by the permit applicant to determine a preliminary WHPA within which actual and potential sources will be inventoried. Upon completion of the well, aquifer characteristics will be submitted and a more accurate WHPA will be generated. Coordination with the SC Rural Water Association continued during the period. To prevent duplication of effort, the Department conducts the necessary assessments and the SC Rural Water Association typically works with the systems to support program implementation.

The UIC Program helps ensure that all underground injection systems are designed and operated to protect the quality of groundwater in the receiving aquifer and all other aquifers as well. During the reporting period, 94 permit applications were received, 103 permit applications were reviewed, 100 permits to construct were issued, 80 permits to operate were issued, and inspections were conducted at 80 facilities.

Monitoring Programs

Public water systems in South Carolina supply water to their customers from one (1) or more of the three-thousand two-hundred seventy-seven (3277) groundwater and/or sixty-eight (68) surface water sources located throughout the State. An amendment to the SDWA was promulgated February 26, 1999 adding the requirement that all CWS publish a CCR on the quality of their drinking water. This affects six-hundred twenty (620) water systems that receive their water from one-thousand eighty-two (1082) groundwater and/or sixty-three (63) surface water sources. The CCR is to be published by July 1st of each calendar year. Within 90 days of publication, the CWS must provide certification to the Department on how the customers were notified of the CCR availability.

Monitoring activities continued under the Lead and Copper Rule. The large systems have completed their Corrosion Control Studies and installed treatment in an effort to decrease the lead and copper levels in their distribution systems. Many of the small and medium systems remain on either reduced monitoring, one (1) set of samples per year or ultra reduced monitoring, one (1) set of samples every three (3) years.

Monitoring activities were coordinated between the Department's eight (8) Regional Offices, the EQC Environmental Laboratories, the Drinking Water Enforcement staff, the Drinking Water Compliance Monitoring staff and the contract laboratories. EQC District staff collect, preserve, transfer and mail samples to the contract laboratories or to the EQC Environmental Laboratories by commercial courier and State courier, respectively. Lead and copper sample collection, transfer and analyses are performed by contract laboratories.

Drinking Water Compliance Monitoring staff are responsible for the scheduling, coordination, maintenance, contract preparation, invoice reconciliation, technical assistance, sampling support and reporting of the monitoring activities. These efforts were performed for all of the public water systems in the State according to system classification. Also involved in the coordination and monitoring efforts were the Department's EQC Procurement Services Office, EQC Finance Office, as well as the Department's Bureaus of Finance and Business Management, the Budget and Control Board, Materials Management Office, and the Division of General Services. The monitoring activities performed were determined by the population served, number of taps, treatment techniques, distribution system, source of the water, and/or historical monitoring data available.

INORGANIC CHEMICALS (IOC):

ROUTINE AND REPEAT SAMPLES - SOURCE MONITORING

Routine IOC sample analyses were conducted for the following compounds: antimony; arsenic; barium; beryllium; cadmium; chromium; fluoride; mercury; selenium; and thallium. Surface water systems were required to have one (1) sample collected each calendar year; groundwater systems had one (1) sample collected every three (3) years. Any system that exceeded the MCL for any contaminant was placed on quarterly monitoring. If the repeat samples collected remained consistently below the MCL for four (4) consecutive quarters, the source was returned to routine monitoring. However, if a water quality problem was confirmed in a source, the system was referred to the Drinking Water Enforcement Section for appropriate action.

NITRATE:

ROUTINE AND REPEAT SAMPLES - SOURCE MONITORING

The nitrates and nitrites are of particular concern, not only for their use as potential indicators of contamination from septic systems or agricultural practices, but for their impact on public health. Nitrates are unstable constituents in the nitrogen cycle. They are readily converted to nitrites through biological degradation. Nitrites have been identified as the compounds of concern, due to their ability to oxidize hemoglobin and affect its oxygen carrying capacities. This reaction is harmful to the elderly and especially to infants, causing the "Blue Baby Syndrome."

One (1) sample was collected from each surface and groundwater source during FY 2005. A sample result greater than one-half (1/2) the MCL resulted in the source being placed on quarterly monitoring until the results are reliably and consistently below the MCL.

NITRITE:

SOURCE MONITORING

Only one (1) nitrite sample was required to be collected from each source between 1993 and 1995. In January 2002 the Department began collecting nitrite samples again from all permanent water sources. This sampling continued for the period January 2002 - December 2004.

SYNTHETIC ORGANIC COMPOUNDS (SOC):

SOURCE MONITORING

This group of compounds includes pesticides, herbicides, and PCBs. The carcinogenicity of these chemicals has been the topic of much discussion and many publications concerning public health.

The SOCs consist of 43 regulated and unregulated compounds. All CWS and NTNCWS are required to monitor for these SOCs. Those systems that did not detect contaminants during initial monitoring were placed on reduced monitoring frequency. The reduced frequency was based on population served. A system serving a population of more than 3,300 persons was reduced to one (1) quarter every three (3) years. Systems serving a population of less than or equal to 3,300 persons were granted a waiver if no new sources were added to their system and they had been monitored during the previous three (3) cycles. Those systems that had new sources added remained with one (1) quarter of sampling during the three (3) year cycle. For any SOC contaminant detection experienced during this time, the system was placed on quarterly monitoring until it was determined the system was reliably and consistently below the MCL.

VOLATILE ORGANIC COMPOUNDS (VOC):

SOURCE MONITORING

Monitoring for VOCs is conducted at the source. New sources added to the inventory are required to have four (4) consecutive quarters of monitoring performed. All surface water sources are required to have one (1) round of VOCs collected during a calendar year. Groundwater sources are required to have one (1) collected during a three (3) year cycle.

TOTAL TRIHALOMETHANES (TTHM); HALOACETIC ACIDS (HAA):

DISTRIBUTION MONITORING

TTHMs include bromodichloromethane, bromoform, chloroform and dibromochloromethane; HAAs include bromochloroacetic acid, Dibromoacetic acid, Dichloroacetic acid; Monobromoacetic acid, Monochloroacetic acid and Trichloroacetic acid. These are groups of suspected carcinogens. These compounds are formed from the chemical reaction of organic material present in raw water with disinfectants (chlorine, chloramines, etc.). These disinfectants are added to maintain the safety of the potable water in the distribution system from bacterial contamination.

Community water systems serving a population of 10,000 or more and adding a disinfectant (oxidant) to the water in any part of the treatment process are monitored quarterly for these compounds.

Beginning in 2004 additional monitoring requirements were placed on surface water systems with a population of less than 10,000 and groundwater systems that added disinfection.

TOTAL THM/HAA SAMPLES

QUARTERS	NUMBER OF SYSTEMS MONITORED	NUMBER OF SAMPLES COLLECTED
1ST (JUL – SEP 07)	144	392
2ND (OCT - DEC 07)	83	307
3RD (JAN - MAR 08)	83	307
4TH (APR - JUN 08)	141	377
TOTAL	451	1383

RADIONUCLIDE:

DISTRIBUTION AND SOURCE MONITORING

Radiological monitoring involves radioactive elements, which may be naturally occurring (radon, uranium, etc.) or man-made (tritium, plutonium, etc.). The monitoring is based on the susceptibility of the system to radioactive contamination.

Groundwater sources are more susceptible to the naturally occurring radionuclides, where as surface water sources are more susceptible to contamination by man-made radioactive elements.

Community water systems are required to be monitored for radionuclides, which include gross alpha, radium-226 and radium 228. If gross alpha is greater than 3 pCi/L then or if radium 226, radium 228 is greater than 1 pCi/L then monitoring is done for four (4) consecutive quarters. If gross alpha is <3 pCi/L and radium 226 and 228 are <1 pCi/L then two (2) consecutive quarters are required prior to determining reduced monitoring schedule.

RADIOLOGICAL MONITORING:

3 RD (JAN - MAR 08)	90	9
4 TH (APR - JUN 08)	90	6
TOTAL	472	26

MICROBIOLOGICAL:

ROUTINE AND REPEAT SAMPLES - DISTRIBUTION MONITORING

The microbiological monitoring program is based on the Total Coliform Rule (TCR). The TCR requires all Community, Non-Transient Non-Community and Transient Non-Community public water systems to self-monitor for microbiological contaminants. The Department continues to conduct oversight monitoring of public water systems for bacteriological quality. In October of 1994 the Department's quarterly compliance bacteriological monitoring program was expanded to include compliance bacteriological monitoring for the Transient Non-Community public water systems. During FY 2008, the Department collected, analyzed and reported approximately eight-thousand 8,000 bacteriological samples. This number includes approximately 3,000 Town Survey samples collected during Sanitary Surveys conducted by the EQC District staff.

LEAD AND COPPER:

DISTRIBUTION AND SOURCE MONITORING

Contamination from excess lead (>0.015 ppm) in drinking water has been identified as a potential contributor to increased blood lead levels for inner-city children. These high concentrations of lead may lead to a decrease of mental aptitude, interruption of physical development, blood chemistry problems in the very young and high blood pressure in some adults. The presence of elevated copper levels (>1.3 ppm) is considered a public health problem affecting the liver, kidneys, stomach, and iron retention capabilities of the blood.

The numbers reflect the following monitoring periods:

1. Reduced (June - September 2007)
2. Other*
 - a. July - December 2007
 - b. January - June 2008

Compliance Programs

Sanitary Surveys

Comprehensive Sanitary Survey inspections were conducted on Community, Non-Community and State-defined water systems. The target goal is to inspect community systems annually. Non-community and State-defined systems are inspected on a less frequent basis. The purpose of the sanitary survey is to evaluate a public water system's ability to provide a continuous supply of safe drinking water to its customers. The sanitary survey inspection is a comprehensive inspection of the source, treatment, and distribution system associated with the water system. The survey is also used to help systems remain in compliance with current and future drinking water regulations. Department sanitary survey staff provide feedback to system operators, owners, municipal officials, etc. on inspection findings, on ways to achieve and/or maintain compliance, and on identification of potential problems that might impact water quality. Staff makes enforcement referrals as necessary, participates in enforcement conferences and provides technical guidance to enforcement personnel.

Compliance/Technical Assistance

During FY 2008 there were numerous opportunities to provide compliance and technical assistance to water systems. The Department staff participated in and led several training sessions sponsored by the SC Rural Water Association, SC AWWA, and SC Water Environment Federation. These meetings and workshops covered numerous topics including compliance and implementation of regulations, sanitary survey issues, and other technical training related to drinking water treatment.

The Drinking Water & Recreational Waters Compliance Section has an employee who is also a certified water treatment, distribution system, and wastewater operator. This employee routinely provides technical assistance to small water systems. Some of the activities during the past year include well disinfection and sealing, help with flushing programs, and operator training to increase technical skills, regulation awareness, and knowledge related to drinking water treatment and distribution issues.

In cooperation with the Drinking Water Enforcement Section, assistance was given to regulated facilities to determine the public health threat of deficiencies noted on sanitary surveys, facilitate during enforcement conferences, and serve as a liaison after the enforcement conference or action between the different Department areas responsible for returning the system to compliance.

Regional drinking water staff perform sanitary surveys on groundwater systems, respond to complaints, participate in public meetings, and provide technical assistance and outreach and education to water systems, public officials, schools, industries, etc.

The Department provides technical support for the following Federal rules:

1. The Surface Water Treatment Rule (SWTR);
2. The Lead and Copper Rule (LCR);
3. The Total Coliform Rule (TCR);
4. The Stage 1 & 2 Disinfection By-Products (DBP) Rules;
5. The Interim Enhanced Surface Water Treatment Rule (IESWTR);
6. The Filter Backwash Recycling Rule (FBRR);
7. Long Term 1 & 2 Enhanced Surface Water Treatment Rules (LT1ESWTR & LT2ESWTR);
8. The Unregulated Contaminant Monitoring Rules (UCMR 1 & 2);
9. The Ground Water Rule.

Water System Security

Water system security is another function of the Drinking Water and Recreational Waters Compliance Section. Section members provide technical assistance during sanitary surveys and other site visits. The Section also plans and participates in training for water systems related to drinking water security. Section members serve as primary contacts for water systems on all issues related to water system security.

Several years ago a Drinking Water System Security State-Wide Coordinator was added to the staff of the Bureau of Water. The Coordinator provides consultation and technical assistance to public drinking water system owners and operators, consulting engineers, public officials and other staff members concerning drinking water system security issues. The Coordinator is responsible for the collection and dissemination of information concerning water system security issues to other staff members and Bureau of Water management. The Coordinator also handles State-wide activities related to drinking water system security and prepares public education material addressing water system protection and emergency preparedness. In addition, the Coordinator is the Past Chair and currently serves on the SC AWWA Emergency Response committee.

Area-Wide Optimization Program

In addition to its responsibilities under the SDWA, the Drinking Water and Recreational Waters Compliance Section implements the Area-Wide Optimization Program (AWOP). The goal of this program is to optimize the surface water systems in the State. Performance goals are established for settled and filtered water turbidity and disinfection by-products (THM, HAA, TOC, Disinfectant feed) that are significantly lower than the regulatory requirements.

Each year surface water systems earn a numerical score based on their performance. Higher scores indicate a higher potential for public health risk and the Section is able to use this list to prioritize its technical assistance activities towards those systems with higher public health risks. Comprehensive Performance Evaluations (CPE), Performance-Based Training (PBT), and an annual awards program are some of the optimization tools available. The number of surface water systems meeting the AWOP goals has increased from a single system in 1997 to 38 (out of 60) for the calendar year 2007.

ENFORCEMENT

During FY 2008, a total of 43 referrals were made to this Section while 32 referrals were resolved. Below is a table identifying the general violation category, number of enforcement orders issued and total penalty amounts.

VIOLATION CATEGORY	NUMBER OF ENFORCEMENT ORDERS	TOTAL PENALTY AMOUNTS
PWS Operation & Maintenance Violations	8 COs, 0 AOs 0 CAs, 0 EOs	$31,500.00
PWS Monitoring Violations	17 COs, 0 AOs 0 CAs, 0 EOs	$68,642.00
PWS Permitting Violations	10 COs, 0 AOs 0 CAs, 0 EOs	$28,850.00

CO = Consent Order, AO = Administrative Order, CA = Consent Agreement, EO = Emergency Order

PWS operation and maintenance violations include failure to properly operate and maintain the PWS, failure to have an operator of the required grade, supply and treatment violations, and cross connection control deficiencies.

PWS monitoring violations include failure to monitor, exceeding the MCL for a contaminant, failure to respond appropriately to a MCL or action level exceedance, and failure to issue a Consumer Confidence Report (CCR).

PWS permitting violations include failure to obtain a permit to construct or alter a treatment facility or failure to obtain approval before placing the system into operation.

Compliance inspections, routine monitoring, and technical assistance are the first steps by which issues of non-compliance are addressed. Unfortunately, these activities do not always produce the desired results. Enforcement is viewed as a tool by which compliance is achieved and as a deterrent to prevent future violations. In those cases where enforcement becomes necessary, it can be extremely effective.

OUTREACH AND EDUCATION

One of the focal points for the 1996 Reauthorization of the Safe Drinking Water Act is an emphasis on the public's right to know. Department staff has worked closely with many organizations such as the American Water Works Association (AWWA) and the SC Rural Water Association in helping drinking water professionals and the public to understand new regulations and drinking water issues. Outreach staff provide quarterly article submissions to The Journal and Through the Pipes in order to keep the regulated community and interested citizens apprised of important water issues.

The Bureau's Drinking Water Outreach program has both continued with standard program components to meet the needs of the traditional target audiences as well as begun more focused outreach efforts to address emerging issues and streamline resources. This year's efforts included: a) developing and updating the "Understanding Your Drinking Water" webpage, developed for public audiences with common questions about their drinking water; b) provided and/or developed fact sheets, displays to the Department's EQC Regional Offices and to the Bureau to use in events or for other specified target audiences; c) partnered with other EQC program areas to create and distribute a fact sheet explaining for the citizen the proper disposal of unwanted medications; d) participated with other parts of the Department in presenting drinking water information at local health fairs; and e) created a press release for acknowledging National Drinking Water Week.

To address emerging drinking water quantity issues, the Bureau's outreach program has become a partner in the EPA's WaterSense program. As a partner in this program, DHEC participated in a state challenge to encourage water utilities to join WaterSense. Over one third of the State's citizen's get their water from utilities participating in the WaterSense program. Staff have presented at the WEASC/AWWA Environmental Conference and published an article in the WEASC/AWWA publication, The Journal. An effort was also made to reach water utilities through WEASC/AWWAs e-mail listserv, Constant Chat. Staff are working with utilities around the state to strengthen and promote the WaterSense program in order to facilitate a greater use of water efficient products in South Carolina.
