

The Global Youth Review

<https://www.theglobalyouthreview.com/>

Sena Chang, Founder and Editor-in-Chief, senachang77@gmail.com

Chapeau

Recognizing the imperative for a more networked and inclusive multilateralism, we propose a comprehensive set of action-oriented policy recommendations that underscore the importance of engaging diverse stakeholders. By harnessing their expertise and amplifying their platforms, we aim to inform policy decisions, enhance the impact of the Summit of the Future at the UN, and address the multifaceted challenges of today and tomorrow.

Chapter I. Sustainable development and financing for development

- Enhancing innovative financing models: We advocate for the development and implementation of innovative financing mechanisms, such as green bonds and impact investment, to mobilize resources for sustainable development projects.
- Smoother integration of SDGs in National Policies: We encourage member states to mainstream SDGs into their national policies and budgets, fostering a holistic approach to sustainable development.
- Public-private partnerships for sustainability: We advocate for the promotion of collaborative initiatives between governments, private sectors, and civil society to establish effective public-private partnerships that drive sustainable development goals.

Chapter II. International peace and security

- Strengthening conflict prevention mechanisms: We strongly encourage the development of a global framework for early warning systems and conflict prevention, emphasizing diplomatic initiatives and dialogue as primary tools for resolving disputes.
- Investing in sustainable peacebuilding: We advocate for increased investment in long-term peacebuilding efforts, including education, healthcare, and community development, to address the root causes of conflicts.
- Promoting multilateral cooperation in crisis response: We encourage establishing a coordinated and efficient multilateral response mechanism for global crises, facilitating collaboration between governments, international organizations, and humanitarian agencies.

Chapter III. Science, technology and innovation and digital cooperation

- Establishing a global technology ethics framework: We encourage creating a universal ethical framework for the development and deployment of emerging technologies, ensuring responsible innovation and addressing potential risks.
- Spearheading digital inclusion initiatives: Support programs that bridge the digital divide across demographic, racial, and economic lines, providing equitable access to technology, connectivity, and digital education to underserved communities worldwide.
- Fostering international collaboration on research and development: We propose facilitating collaborative international efforts in research and development, fostering cross-border partnerships to tackle global challenges through technological innovation.

Chapter IV. Youth and future generations

- Empower youth and foster youth leadership: We strongly propose establishing more platforms for meaningful youth participation in decision-making processes at local, national, and international levels, ensuring their voices are heard in shaping policies that impact their future.
- Funding education for sustainable development: We advocate for the integration of sustainable development education into formal curricula, equipping young generations with the knowledge and skills needed for a sustainable future.
- Building youth-led innovation hubs: We propose creating innovation hubs that empower young entrepreneurs and innovators, providing resources and mentorship to drive solutions for global challenges.

Chapter V. Transforming global governance

- Reforming international institutions: We strongly propose reforms to enhance the representativeness and effectiveness of international institutions, ensuring they align with contemporary global realities. This way, we can bridge the gap between idealism and realism.
- Encouraging citizen engagement in global decision-making: We encourage exploring mechanisms to increase citizen participation in global governance, leveraging digital platforms for inclusive dialogue and decision-making.
- Strengthening multilateral cooperation: We encourage deeper collaboration between nations in addressing transnational issues, reinforcing the importance of diplomacy, dialogue, and multilateral agreements in achieving shared global goals.