Social Business, Standards & W3C

Customers are seizing the Social Business opportunity!

According to IDC's Social Business Survey conducted in September 2010, 41 percent of respondents indicated that they have already implemented an enterprise social software solution.

Social Business represents an exciting $4.6B* market opportunity by 2013

Many standards organizations target portions of this market

But there is no one place yet that brings together customers with the community in a dialogue that sets the agenda for standards!

Social Networking CGs

- Federated Social Web
 - Social Business
 - PubSubHubbub
 - OStatus
 - Core Mobel Web Platform
 - ActivityPub
- Headlight Projects are a great means of encouraging cross pollination between similarly themed CGs
 - IBM would like to encourage this practice along with Cross CG task forces.

Headlight: Directions

- Social Standards “Boxitecture” (Ann’s presentation)
- Co-branded Workshop(s)

Social Workshop

- When: Fall 2012
- Where: Bay Area
 - possibly co-located with Internet Identity Workshop in Oct
- What: Bring together key organizations dealing with Social Standards
 - In early discussions re: co-branding
- Use headlights project output as catalyst for Workshop
 - Use cases & requirements
 - explore “boxitecture”
 - Explore standards roadmap
- Seeking Workshop Sponsors, interested parties

Discussion

- Should W3C pursue further work in Social?
- Is a (co-branded) Workshop a good idea?

- Q&A...
